

John Figueroa is the Founder and Executive Chairman of CarepathRx, a company providing innovative pharmacy solutions to Hospital Health Systems centered on end-to-end service for all pharmacy needs including specialty, infusion, and continuous home solutions for all prescriptions. In 2023 one third of the company was sold to Anthem Healthcare for $1.6 Billion. Another third was also sold to Cigna for $1 Billion.

Prior to this, Mr. Figueroa was CEO and Board member of Genoa Healthcare from July 2014 to September 2018, the nation's leading behavioral health pharmacy, telepsychiatry and medication management company. During his tenure at Genoa, he successfully tripled the size of the business that transformed behavior health pharmacy on a national level. Genoa was sold to United Healthcare Group for $2.5 Billion.

Additionally, Mr. Figueroa served the dual roles of Chairman and CEO of Apria Healthcare Group Inc., and Coram LLC. In January 2014, the Coram asset was sold to CVS Caremark for $2.2 Billion. Mr. Figueroa was the Chairman of the Board of Directors for Apria Healthcare until the remainder of the company sold in 2022 for $1.7 Billion.

Mr. Figueroa also served as CEO and Board Member of Omnicare, Inc., a Fortune 500 healthcare services company that provided pharmaceuticals and related services to long-term care facilities and specialized drugs for complex diseases.

In addition, he was the President of McKesson Corporation's U.S. Pharmaceutical Group from 2006 to 2010, a business with over $100 billion in annual revenue. He held progressively more responsibility for operations and sales positions in the company's Pharmaceutical and Health Systems groups from 1997 through early 2006.

He spent the initial years of his career in various sales and operations roles for Baxter Healthcare.

Mr. Figueroa holds bachelor's degrees in both Political Science - International Relations and English Literature from the University of California at Los Angeles (UCLA). He was an ROTC Distinguished Military Graduate. He also holds a master's degree in business administration (MBA) from Pepperdine University, where he was honored as a Distinguished Alumnus and received the Pepperdine Graziadio Business School Inspired Leadership Award.

He currently serves on the Executive Committee and funded the Endowed Chair in The Business of Healthcare for the Pepperdine Graziadio Business School Board and is a guest lecturer at the Wharton School of the University of Pennsylvania and at the Stanford Graduate School of Business.

Other awards he has received include the Supply Chain Executive of the Decade award from the Global Supply Chain Leaders Group (GSCLG).
