

Patrick Khoury
Senior Director, Sales – USA
Air Canada

Patrick Khoury was appointed Senior Director, Sales - USA for Air Canada effective January 8, 2001. His responsibilities include all aspects of Air Canada's passenger sales activities in the United States, including management of the company's U.S. sales force and building of long-term customer relationships. He is based at the airline's regional office in Chicago.

Mr. Khoury previously held the position of General Manager, Marketing & Sales – The Americas for Asiana Airlines. Prior to joining Asiana in 1993, he spent 12 years with Northwest Airlines, most recently serving as Manager, National Accounts.

A lifelong airline professional and certified pilot, he began his career recruiting, training and supervising flight attendants.

Mr. Khoury holds an MBA from Pepperdine University and has completed the Executive Program in Transportation Marketing Strategy at the Kellogg School of Management, Northwestern University. He also has a BS in Criminal Justice from St. Anselm College in New Hampshire and has attended Instrument Flight School in St. Paul, Minnesota.

He is a member of the Airlines Reporting Corporation Board of Directors, Chairman – Compensation & Corporate Governance Committee. Pepperdine University School of Business - Board of Directors, and Chairman Cary, IL Zoning, Planning and Appeal Commission. He is listed in Who's Who Registry of Business Leaders.

Mr. Khoury resides in Cary, Illinois with his wife and two children.