- Programs and course offerings at the partner universities are subject to change.

When your application is reviewed, your first choice will be considered first, but due to limited spots at each destination, your choices cannot be guaranteed. You will not be considered for a destination country in which you have already lived a significant portion of your life.

The Full-Time Programs Committee reserves the right to make decisions regarding the destination placement of students in the One-Trimester Study Abroad Program. The goal of this Study Abroad Program is to match students with destinations in which they are most likely to have a successful experience and to represent Pepperdine well.
